UNDER YOUR INFLUENCE: Just as crops can't grow without sunshine, teens can't grow without your guidance. More than half of Randolph County 10th-12th graders say they used alcohol by the time they were fifteen. Teens who start drinking this early have a higher chance of developing an addiction that can derail their life. Your influence can keep them healthy. As a parent, you can help your child by being there for them when they come to you for advice, and keep them away from alcohol. For ways to get even more involved in your teen's life, check out this website: www.RCInfluence.com
